Emily – The Brownie Leader

In the Brownie story at 7 a young girl called Emily wanted to join brownies. Once she became a brownie she made her promise and learnt a lot from making her promise. Throughout her time at brownies she grew as a person, learnt a lot about herself and made many life long friends. Emily then continued into guides where she had many more adventures. Emily enjoyed her girlguiding experience so much that she became a young leader. She was inspired by her leaders to follow in their footsteps.

Today we chose to name our Brownie leader after Emily in our famous brownie story. Yes this is just a Brownie story but it's still real. This has happened for so many young girls out there and they have went on such a life changing journey and became real heroes.

Every single leader is similar yet different in their own ways. We all have fears which we face every day and challenges, throughout guiding we have faced our fears and continue to grow as leaders and learn more skills to share with our girls. Emily was our hero. She not only completed brownies and guides, but she also felt that she could give more and became a leader and volunteered her own time to help others do what she done.

North East Flood Wardens

Flood wardens are the unsung heroes during a flood event. They help to support their local community before, during and after a flood, and feed directly into the Environment Agency's incident response. They are invaluable to our work and their local community.

Captain Cook

He was an explorer and joined the navy in 1755 and voyaged thousands of miles. He made all kinds of discoveries including Australia, New Zealand and Hawaii. He was attacked and killed in 1779 during a voyage of the Pacific.

He was born in Marton, Middlesbrough – so really he is a Smoggy Hero not a Geordie!!

Minty – Nuns Moor Park Hero (Gender neutral name means collector of thoughts and determined protector )

Our parks are under threat politically, environmentally, economically and socially.

Nuns Moor Park is hub for community activity and integration, and is used by groups and individuals. It desperately needs nurturing and protecting for future generations.

Our park hero has been created by local children (with help from the adults) to be a gardian of our park and a protector of everything the children love about the park, from the trees, plants, insects, birds and animals to the play areas and green spaces.

Everything attached to our hero, which includes the childrens handprints representing Mintys hair is being embraced and kept safe by our hero.
